Note from the CLUB

Dear Member,

Greetings!

We've had a magnificent start to the new year with some spectacular events and experiences at the DLF City Clubs in the month of January. I want to extend my heartfelt thanks to you for your active participation in making these events a success.

For the month of February, we have a fantastic calendar of exciting social and cultural events planned, and I hope that you will take advantage of these opportunities to come together, have fun, and make new memories. I also want to extend an invitation to you to follow us on social media: dlf_clubs on Instagram and DLF Premium Clubs on Facebook. This is a great way to promote a stronger, more engaged community in the digital space.

Now for the month's calendar: Brace yourself for the superb stand-up session by the one and only Anubhav Singh Bassi! The famous YouTuber, comedian, and actor will perform his fresh new act, Kisi Ko Batana Mat, for us live onstage. We also have the 2nd edition of the DLF x Ishara International Puppet Festival, in which you can witness global puppetry at its finest. Productions from Brazil and Taiwan with three unique shows will surely enthrall you. In the area of book talks and discourses, we have Arjun Mohan providing an exciting insider's view on the EdTech scene in India. We also have a storytelling session and book launch by the popular social media personality Laksh Maheshwari. In the arena of performing arts, we have dance maestro Rani Jain helping us explore the nuances of Kathak. In After Dark, theatregoers can look forward to an intriguing play that explores the lives of three women. And finally, invite your Valentine for a romantic musical evening as some talented musicians set the stage ablaze.

Lastly, in this edition of the calendar, we have a little treat for our readers. Dive into the world of actress, VJ, and singer Suchitra Pillai. Don't miss her heartwarming insights in this special interview!

So, mark your calendars and join us for a month filled with unforgettable experiences! We look forward to welcoming you at your club.

Warm regards,

Aditi Chauhan

IN CONVERSATION WITH...

SUCHITRA PILLAI

Acclaimed Indian television, OTT, and stage actor, as well as a singer and speaker, Suchitra Pillai opens up about her association with her art form, her inspirations, her journey, and some experiences that have stayed with her.

Q: What is art to you? And according to you, how does it bring about transformation in society?

A: Art in all its forms is a medium of expression for fantasy and reality, both of which are integral parts of society. Culture, when incorporated into any art form, gives the audience a reminder of what we are all about, be it in the present or history. The messages sent through art, for example, in theatre, are a visual means of communicating ideas and thoughts that can hit home faster as they are 'experienced'. Hence, when a message is transferred to an audience faster and is felt and experienced, it has the power to transform their lives.

Q: Tell us about Suchitra Pillai's journey as an artist.

A: Suchitra Pillai is an actress, singer, compère, and mother. A graduate in electronic engineering, Suchitra decided to follow her heart and went the showbiz way in 1993. That time in London, she signed up as the lead in a French film called Le Prix d'une Femme for France 3 Television. Since then, apart from roles in Bollywood cinema that include Dil Chahta Hai, Page 3, Laaga Chunari Mein Daag, Marigold, and Fashion, she has done some Hollywood movies, such as The Other Side of the Door and The Valley, for which she won best actress at the Milan Film Festival and Long Island International Film Expo.

She is also an accomplished theatre artist. Most recently, she played one of the leads in the path-breaking musical Sing India Sing and has worked in productions like Wedding Album, August: Osage County, and Dance Like a Man for 27 years—and is still going strong!

Then there were the music videos, too! Suchitra has been in some top pop music videos for artists like Apache Indian, Oasis, Zazie, and Bally Sagoo. She's also sung for artists like Talvin Singh, the French Algerian artist Rachid Taha, and Kula Shaker, the English psychedelic rock band.

A lot of people remember Suchitra as a VJ on Channel V or from Hindi TV series like Ek Shringaar, Swabhiman, 24, Beintehaa. . . Or the very recent Made in Heaven, the bestseller on Amazon Prime, or The Trial on Disney Hotstar. Then there's the Netflix series, such as Betaal, Eternally Confused and Eager for Love, Masaba Masaba, and Rana Naidu.

Then there's the music scene: Her latest track is called Tanzanite—a fusion track produced in the United Kingdom. But Suchitra's first music album was in 2011, called Such is Life. Her second album, titled History of Rock and Roll, has been mixed and mastered at the very well-known Rockfield Studios in London by producer Nick Brine. This will be out soon.

Having been in the industry for nearly 30 years and having dabbled in all types of media, she's also been the dubbing artist for the Hindi versions of many movies for international stars, including Cate Blanchett, Meryl Streep, Angelina Jolie, Maggie Gyllenhaal, and Maggie Q, to name a few.

In short, Suchitra is someone who loves every minute of all her jobs, no matter which hat she is wearing!

Q: Tell us about your role model—someone whom you look up to for inspiration.

A: My mother for her never-say-die attitude. Also, actresses Rekha, Smita Patil, and Shabana Azmi for their natural talent. Lillete Dubey for the way she is—such a driving force even at 70 and doing all that she ever dreamed of!

Q: Any art form, be it music, dance, or theatre, plays a significant role in shaping the persona of the artist. How do you perceive your association with your chosen art form?

A: I like to think that I am an amalgamation of everything that is creative. Since I am a singer, songwriter, and actor who works in all mediums—TV, film, theatre, OTT, dubbing artist, compere, speaker, model, etc.—my forms of expression are many. I am good at moulding myself into any creative field because I love my job 100%. I am an extrovert.

Someone who is not afraid to be thrown into the deep end.

Q: What is your view on art or change through art in this day and age of super-connectivity and the internet?

A: You have to move with the times. As much as I hate it, frankly! I feel it has brought a lot of superficiality into our lives, where everyone is looking for validation from faceless names whom one really should not give a second thought about. We have to consciously know how to use it and not allow it to use us.

Q: Tell us about an experience that has stayed with you.

A: It would have to be my interaction with actor Anthony Hopkins as a 22-year-old in London. This was when I was a hostess in a restaurant, and the manager there decided to play a joke on me, and Sir Hopkins agreed to go along with it! It was after his movie Silence of the Lambs, and they pretended that Sir H wanted raw lamb chops! And yes, I was made to serve it to him. And just when I was wondering if he'd actually eat it, he grabbed my hand like Hannibal Lector would. He kissed it and laughed! He said, "I don't really bite, Suchitra. This was a joke!" This taught me the true sense of humility—to be such a huge star, agree to have a bit of fun during his lunch meeting, and give a young girl like me an experience I'll remember till my dying day!

Q: As a luminary in the world of art, what would be your advice to aspiring artists?

A: Believe in your dreams. They come to you through your subconscious because you are capable of achieving them. Believe in yourself, and never let anyone pull you down. Also, remember to make space for others; they'll help you when you need that extra push. And don't be selfish with praise. Reach for the stars, for there won't be any fences to stop you.
